HAWAII COUNTY ADULT ALCOHOL

BINGE DRINKING

Definition: Adult males who consume five or more drinks on one occasion, or adult females who consume four or more drinks on one occasion.¹

In 2010, the prevalence of binge drinking among men was twice that of women, in Hawaii and the United States. Binge drinkers were 14 times more likely to report alcohol-impaired driving than non-binge drinkers.¹

Nationally, in 2010, the prevalence and intensity of binge drinking was highest among persons age 18-34 years, but the frequency of binge drinking was highest among binge drinkers aged ≥65 years.²

KNOW THE LAW!

Anyone with a blood alcohol concentration ≥ 0.8 may be charged with "driving under the influence". First offenders:

- 14-hour minimum substance abuse rehabilitation program
- 1-year revocation of license
- ignition interlock device installed in vehicle.⁴ (see picture above). Installation and use of an ignition interlock device for one year costs offenders approximately $1000.⁵

On average, the largest number of drinks per binge in Hawaii is 9 Drinks.

DID YOU KNOW?

According to the federal government's annual traffic safety assessment Hawaii ranked number one in the nation for alcohol-related fatalities.³

44% of all fatal crashes in Hawaii in 2011 involved a driver with a BAC level ≥ 0.08 . The national average was 31%.³

In 2011, 4,034 adults were arrested for DUI in the state of Hawaii.⁶

Drunk driving is 100% preventable!
